

Alaska Geological Society Hosts USGS Public Assessment Review

The USGS is conducting an updated assessment of technically recoverable oil and gas resources in the Nanushuk and Torok Formations in NPRA and adjacent state lands and waters. In preparation for the upcoming assessment, a public geology review meeting will be held in Anchorage on November 7, 2017. Primary objectives are to (1) present the geological framework on which the assessment will be based and (2) solicit feedback from the geological community regarding the geology and interpretations that represent the foundation of the assessment. An overview of methodology also will be included.

The meeting will be hosted by the AGS and held at the BP Energy Center, 900 East Benson Blvd, Anchorage. The presentation and discussion will be held from 8:30 to 11:00 a.m., and USGS personnel also will be available for expanded discussions in the same room from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. Please note the room is NOT available from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Attendance is open to anyone interested in the scientific foundation on which the assessment will be conducted. Feel free to send any questions to Dave Houseknecht at dhouse@usgs.gov

Photos and interpretations courtesy of David L. LePain, DGGS